Officials of Oil Company Testify About Cash Gifts

They Appear Before Senatorial Committee Investigating Their Actions in Behalf of Gas Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Gulf Oil Co. said today that "out of an abundance of caution" the company did not claim as a tax deduction a $3,800 contribution to a committee which lobbied for the natural gas bill.

But Sidney A. Swensrud, chairman of the board of Gulf Oil, and Archie D. Gray, Gulf's general counsel, said the company did deduct as a business expense $111,000 given to an "educational committee" on natural gas.

Swensrud and Gray testified to a special Senate investigating committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) about company activities in behalf of the gas bill.

The bill would have freed natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. Congress passed it last February, but President Eisenhower vetoed it because of what he termed "highly questionable activities" by a small part of the industry in behalf of the legislation.

Swensrud and Gray said Gulf Oil, among other things, presented its views to its stockholders, employees, and credit card holders.

They said the company also contributed $3,800 to the General Gas Committee, which registered as a lobbyist in behalf of the gas bill, and that this was not claimed as a tax deduction.

McClellan observed that some oil companies had charged off contributions to the committee as a business expense, and that the Internal Revenue Service was looking into it. He asked whether Gulf's decision not to claim a tax deduction resulted from this.

"I am afraid the answer to that is yes," Gray replied.

The Arkansas senator announced yesterday he has asked again for a copy of the "body of evidence" Eisenhower cited in vetoing the bill because of "highly questionable activities."

McClellan said he telephoned his request to William P. Rogers, deputy attorney general.

"If there's any dirt, let's have it," McClellan told newsmen.

Jury Acquits Policeman Of Bribery

Foreman Says Vote Favoring Defendant Came on First Ballot

ST. LOUIS (AP) — F. Lyman Davis, first to be tried of three police officers indicted in an inquiry into reported payoffs to police by brothel operators, has been acquitted of bribery charges by a circuit court jury.

It was reported by the foreman of the all-male jury yesterday that the jurors voted unanimously for acquittal on the first ballot.

The 38-year-old Davis, a member of the police department 15 years, was accused of accepting a bribe from the operator of a house of prostitution.

Instructions given to the jury were strongly protested by the prosecutor. Circuit Judge James F. Nangle instructed the jury to consider the three indictments accusing Davis of accepting bribes as one charge although he had been brought to trial on one of the indictments.

Circuit Atty. Edward L. Dowd declared the instructions in event of conviction "would force the Supreme Court to give the defendant a new trial."

In his final argument Dowd said "this is probably the most important criminal case ever tried in St. Louis because it will determine what kind of police department we are going to have."

The defense attacked the credibility in its closing argument of Mrs. Ethel Clift, the brothel operator who testified she paid Davis $500 in bribes for protection.

Davis, more than 6 feet tall and 200 pounds, was visibly affected by the verdict. He walked to the jury box and shook hands with each juror.

"I had full faith that justice would prevail," he said.

To Present Gifts For Most Members In Chamber Drive

Merchants of Sedalia have co-operated in an effort to bring all business firms into the Chamber of Commerce, the organization they feel means progress to the city, by donating gifts that will be given those who secure the most new memberships.

More than $300 worth of merchandise has been given for the big one day drive which will be held Tuesday, Sept. 18.

The big day will start with a ham breakfast when information necessary for the workers will be passed out in the form of kits. Then with the names of prospective members who have already been contacted, they will make calls for the membership drive.

Each service club will have a group of workers and to the club whose members bring in the greatest number of new Chamber of Commerce members a plaque will be given for their community service.

The Weather

Generally fair; partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; low to night in upper 60s; high Thursday in mid-90s.

Plans Opinion On Public Data Rights

JEFFERSON CITY (MPA) — Attorney General John M. Dalton plans an opinion early next week which "will spell out the rights of public information in Missouri."

Dalton said the ruling will be made at the request of the Caldwell County prosecutor to clear up a situation at Hamilton, Mo. Marion Ridings, editor of the Advocate-Hamiltonian, was ejected from a city council meeting through an ordinance which gave the Hamilton board of aldermen the right to bar citizens from its meetings.

"The public has a right to know what their officials are doing," the attorney general said. "However," he continued, "no one has the right to interfere with the activities of a public body."

Dalton said next week's opinion is being prepared very cautiously. "We want a ruling that will spell out the rights of public information in Missouri," he said. The opinion could then be used as a guide in future cases involving the rights of the press to attend public meetings.

It was expected that the ruling might provide ammunition for a future test case involving secrecy of committee hearings of the Missouri legislature. Senate and House committees have always considered legislation in private, following public hearings. However, the House has usually given information to the press about how members voted on bills. The Senate committees have in the past only given the total vote by which the committee advanced or killed a piece of legislation.

McKeldin Is Out Again—

Southern Governors Name Luther Hodges Chairman

Bulletin

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Southern governors, saying "No" again today to a Republican who wants to lead them, elected Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina as chairman of the Southern Governors Conference.

Another was the selection of next year's meeting place, Sea Island, Ga., was the general favorite, with Hot Springs, Ark., ticketed to get it in 1958.

None of the governors expected much else to come out of their windup business session behind closed doors.

They were to vote on proposals considered yesterday by their resolutions committee. There was nothing spectacular.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland wants to be chairman. "My state deserves it," he has been heard to say, "and I've got seniority. I am six years a governor."

Last year he made a bid for it with much the same argument. But the chairmanship went to Frank G. Clement of Tennessee. This year McKeldin was back, the only Republican present since J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware couldn't make it. McKeldin made no apologies about his partisanship. He spotted a tie which bore the legend "more than ever I like Ike."

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, a Democrat who supported President Eisenhower in 1952, was named to head a committee to nominate a chairman to succeed Clement.

Shivers and his committee members, Govs. William C. Marland of West Virginia and George B. Timmerman of South Carolina, decided to nominate Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina.

The funeral mass was said by Msgr. Thomas Crowell of Kansas City, secretary to the archbishop. After celebrating the mass he remained kneeling in prayer by the catafalque for a long period.

Msgr. Luigi Sala, secretary to Archbishop Montini, announced that a large memorial service will be held either in Milan's famous Duomo Cathedral or in the Church of St. Gioacchino. The time will be set after it is known when the body will leave for the United States.

Ike Vote Is Big Issue—

Both Parties Announce Plans For Fast Start in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Can full financing of Missouri's new school "foundation program and both urged increased welfare payments to meet rising living costs—a guarantee of battles to come in the new legislature next year.

The Democrats came up with a new idea for lending state funds to needy school districts for new buildings but did not spell out the details.

Both Republicans and Democrats made it clear at their platform conventions yesterday that would be the big issue of the general election campaign.

Republicans, bidding for enough Eisenhower votes to carry their state ticket into office, laid down a platform claim that America has made more progress under the Eisenhower administration than ever before.

Democrats, seeking to identify the President with what they called Republican mistakes, leveled their platform attack directly at Eisenhower with a charge that his lack of leadership has caused the country to slip backward.

Four years ago Eisenhower carried Missouri by 29,600 votes although the entire Democratic state ticket swept into office.

Both parties announced plans for a fast campaign start.

Democrats slated a series of organization meetings with the first ones this afternoon at Maryville and tonight at St. Joseph. The campaign kickoff meeting is at Moberly Saturday with national Chairman Paul Butler as the main speaker.

Republicans plan a strategy and finance session Monday and are making big plans for a rally at Springfield Sept. 26, when Vice President Nixon is scheduled as the main speaker.

The two party platforms adopted by a handful of partisans at the end of yesterday's convention showed virtual agreement on many major points.

But it looked as if the Democrats had out-promised the Republicans on at least one issue—civil rights.

The Democrats pledged full use of government powers for "the quickest possible elimination of all forms of state imposed segregation." They urged legislation to protect "security of the person from mob violence."

Then they pledged enactment of laws "prohibiting discrimination in employment because of race, color, religion or national origin"—a fair employment practices act.

The Republicans deplored any use of force or violence in carrying out desegregation of public schools and said the work of the courts must be "supported in every legal manner by all the branches of government, to the end that the constitutional idea of equality before the law, regardless of race, creed or color, will be steadily achieved."

They pledged "an end to discrimination in state employment in Missouri" but did not mention a general FEPC law.

Both parties went on record for

It Will Undertake to Carry Traffic Through the Suez

LONDON (AP) — Britain and France said today the United States is joining them in setting up an international association which will undertake to carry traffic through the Suez Canal.

Egypt will be asked to cooperate and will receive transit dues. Prime Minister Eden and Premier Guy Mollet of France announced.

If Egypt interferes, the nations concerned will be "free to take such further steps as seem to be required," Eden told the House of Commons. He warned President Nasser of Egypt cannot expect appeasement from Britain, but insisted this country is moving in every peaceable way to end the Suez dispute.

Announcement of the new association drew fire quickly from the outnumbered Laborites in House of Commons. Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the Labor party, noted the association plans to employ its own pilots and take in tolls. This "seems like a highly provocative step," he said.

"In ignoring the charter of the United Nations and taking the law into our own hands we are reverting to international anarchy," Gaitskell said.

However, Britain and France already had taken a first step toward putting the Suez controversy before the U. N. They delivered a letter today to the president of the U. N. Security Council, advising him that Egypt has created a situation which might endanger free use of the canal.

Any formal motion against Egypt in the Security Council would run the risk of a Soviet veto.

Another development was the imminent walkout of many of the non-Egyptian pilots who take ships through the canal's tricky waters. Egypt is speeding up her plans to replace these pilots as necessary.

Eden said all the canal's main users will be invited to join the new protective association.

Britain and France have built up a strong military "fire brigade" in the eastern Mediterranean.

The Board of Education accepted the resignation of Prudence Cropley, approved payment of $17,458.22 in monthly bills, received the audit of the school books from Arthur J. Morgan, CPA, and conducted other routine business in its regular meeting Tuesday night.

A bid from Haller Office Equipment Co. was accepted for the purchase of two office chairs and desks to match and two additional straight chairs. Two other firms entered bids.

It was noted by the board that the largest number of boys are out for football that Smith-Cotton has ever had before.

The board also approved the revised salary schedule. Nine teachers qualified for a $10 raise through reaching a total of 150 hours college credit, and three others qualified for a $5 raise through reaching the 135-hour mark.

Wiley Seems To Have Won Worst Fight

Veteran of Three Senate Terms Takes Lead for Nomination

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin's senior senator, Alexander Wiley, who was rebuffed by his own party, apparently had won his toughest election fight today.

The 72-year-old veteran of three Senate terms had what looked like a safe lead for nomination in the Wisconsin Republican primary for U. S. senator.

He had a lead of nearly 4,000 in unofficial returns from 3,126 of the state's 3,348 precincts over his rival, Rep. Glenn R. Davis of Wauskeles, in yesterday's primary.

The lead was almost certain to stand up because

Loses Cheap Annual Rent: One Dollar

CLEVELAND (U)—The Alexander J. Brady family has been paying the government $1-a-year rent for a 17-room mansion for seven years, but a federal judge says no more.

Judge Paul Jones ordered Brady to move out and pay the government $1,800 back rent — $100 a month for the last 18 months.

How did Brady ever get a deal like that?

He sold the house to the government for $31,350 in 1949. The government planned to build a veteran's hospital on Brady's property and 13 adjacent lots.

The people who lived in the 13 other houses also sold to the government and moved out.

But Brady wanted to stay on. So he got a government man to sign an agreement, renting him the house at $1 a year "until such time as the premises are . . . actually needed for the purpose for which purchased."

That day never came. Immediate plans for the hospital were cancelled.

Eighteen months ago, the government ordered Brady to move.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Russell Ake argued in court that the agreement was invalid because the government officer who signed it had no such authority.

Judge Jones agreed. "I don't think there is any rhyme or reason to his position," he said. "What if the hospital were never built?"

Brady says he won't appeal, but he'd still like to stay in the house and is willing to pay $100 a month for the eight bedrooms, five baths, four fireplaces and three-car garage.

US' Shortest Railroad Will Quit Business

CASSVILLE, Mo. (U)—The nation's shortest commercial railroad goes out of business today—if they finish unloading a car of sacked feed in time.

The feed was the last payload of the once-thriving Cassville & Exeter Railroad, a 4 1/4-mile line connecting this town of 2,500 with Exeter, Mo.

Engineer Jim Ashley was due to make the last run yesterday, pulling an empty boxcar with his old diesel locomotive. But they didn't get the feed unloaded, so the trip had to be postponed until today. If they don't finish the job today, he'll make the run tomorrow.

The C&E has been operating on the same casual basis in recent years. F. P. Sizer of Monett, Mo., president, said it operated only when needed. "We ran as many cars as necessary," he said.

The C&E was founded 60 years ago because the main line of the Frisco Railroad missed Cassville, a county seat.

The railroad did a thriving business hauling lumber, cement, oil, feed and other freight.

But business gradually diminished as highways and truck improved. Lack of income is forcing it to shut down.

On the last run, when he gets around to it, engineer Ashley will drop the empty boxcar in Exeter, where it will be put on the Frisco's main line. Then he'll put his engine in reverse and coast the 4 1/4 downhill miles back to Exeter. He can't turn around. The little railroad never had a turntable.

No Shortage
CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (U)—The teacher shortage is no fault of Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, 91. Her eight children all are or were teachers and five of them married teachers. Eleven grandchildren teach school and six more are studying to become teachers. Mrs. Barton herself never taught school. But her husband did, and his father and mother did too.

Card Table Kit Makes Good Item for Gift or Bazaar

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Bridge and canasta parties are more fun if you have your equipment right at hand. A card table kit, to hold cards, score pads and pencils, provides the answer. Local sewing center experts tell you how to make this ingenious card caddy, and suggest you turn out a number of them at one time, for gifts or bazaar items.

Quilted plastic is a good fabric choice, though a sturdy sailcloth or denim will do as well. Select a color to match the bridge table cover. You will need for each kit 1/2 yard of 36-inch fabric, four yards of double-fold bias tape in matching or contrasting color and a 22-inch neck-type zipper.

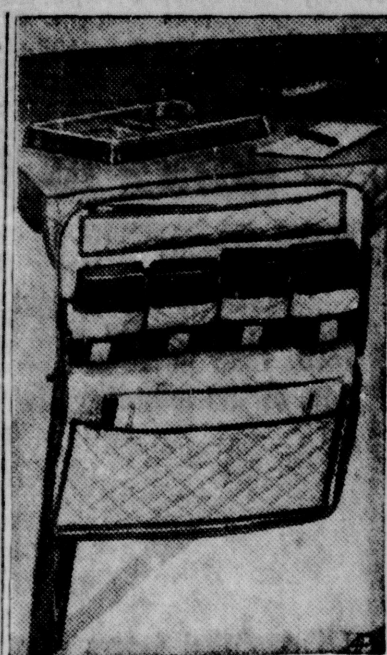

Lay your fabric flat on a table. Cut two pieces 11 by 12 1/2 inches. From remaining scraps cut a long cross strap, 1 1/4 inches wide and 16 inches long; four pocket straps measuring 1 by 3 3/4 inches; a pencil pocket, 1 1/4 by 8 3/4 inches; and a scorepad pocket, 4 1/4 by 9 3/4 inches.

Use your multi-slotted binder attachment on your sewing machine and bind the edges of the score pad pocket and pencil pocket. Bind three edges of the four pocket straps, leaving one of the short ends unbound. Mark off your cross strap in four equal sections and mark the middle of each section. With wrong sides facing, place pocket straps on center of each section of cross strap. Baste in place, running stitches along edges of cross strap and pocket straps. Bind sides and top edge of cross strap, catching in the pocket straps in the same stitching. Bind lower edge of cross strap, stitching thru pocket straps where they cross.

Turn back seam allowance on one of the large pieces. Place bottom of open zipper at center fold line. Baste folded edge to edge of zipper tape, working all the way around the piece of fabric. Turn back seam allowance on second kit piece. With wrong sides of kit pieces together, top stitch edge, catching in both kit pieces and zipper tape.

Attach pockets to inside of kit. Stitch edges of cross strap to edges of kit. Run line of stitching along marking dividing cross strap into four sections, so that four loops of equal size are formed. Stitch bottom of pocket straps in place. These form pockets for four decks of cards. Stitch kit to side of card table cover, a half inch from top edge of cover. Stitch 1/4 inch from lining edge of kit.

If you make this kit of felt, you can easily make a card table cover to match, since felt requires no hemming. Decorate both kit and table cover with matching applied designs for an unusual gift item.

CARD GAME KIT — Easy to make at home from quilted plastic, for gifts, bazaar items or use for your own bridge parties.

Patrol Renews Effort to Save More Lives

The Missouri Highway Patrol renewed its efforts this week in an all-out attempt to keep a record number of drivers from killing themselves this year on Missouri highways. An encouraging 25 per cent reduction in fatalities during August was a short-lived gain as Missouri drivers turned in their worst performance in the state's history over the Labor Day holiday period. Twenty-four died, and 187 were injured in a total of 252 accidents over that holiday week end.

"Labor Day taught us a lesson," Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, Patrol superintendent said, "it taught us that if a driver really wants to kill himself by cracking his car up at 70 or 80 miles an hour, nobody can stop him. That's exactly what many of them did."

The current death rate on Missouri highways is running 10 per cent above the same period last year. Figures as of Sept. 6 show 714 killed so far this year as compared to 644 last year.

The Patrol emphasized that fatalities must be held to under 100 for each of the remaining four months of the year in order to prevent a new yearly high in traffic deaths this year. The total killed in Missouri last year was 1,070.

"The majority of our motorists are good drivers just as they are good citizens. Every courteous and conscientious driver should be entitled to drive down any Missouri highway and be entirely free from hazards caused by careless and irresponsible drivers. Our goal is to make this a reality by continuing to sternly and impartially enforce the traffic laws," Waggoner said.

When Forest Service fire guards arrived at the scene of a fire they found it was nearly out.

Why Rush Through School? Better Stay in Kindergarten

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As millions of children troop off to school again, many adults know a moment of sadness and almost envy.

They are swept by a passing desire to be young themselves, and an old phrase tugs at their mind: "If I had my life to live over again."

Well I know what I'd do. I certainly wouldn't rush through kindergarten if I had a second chance. I believe I'd stay in kindergarten, year after stubborn year, until the school crumbled in ruin.

A return to my pimply and bawling high school adolescence holds no appeal to me. If I had to live through the teen ages again I'd certainly demand double pay and time off for good behavior.

Nor do I pine to live again the rain-soaked years on a college campus amid the climbing ivy.

But kindergarten? Ah, that's a different matter. What man wouldn't like to live again the year of his real prime, the time when he stood on his first real summit and knew the thrill of feeling he was king of the hill?

This week, seeing scores of scrub-faced urchins being led to their first day in kindergarten by their mothers, I felt a wild wish that I could remake that journey again myself, and recapture the feelings that went with it.

A boy on his way to kindergarten when I was young was a Christopher Columbus, adventuring into an uncharted world. Most children didn't attend nursery schools. Kindergarten was a strange new continent full of rumored terrors and uncertain delights.

Remember how clammy your palm felt in your mother's palm? And all the questions you asked along the way?

"Mama, if you do something bad, do they really shut you up in a dark cloakroom all by yourself and close all the doors?"

"Mama, will there be anybody there I know?"

"Mama, what if you do something bad but don't know it's bad when you do it. Do they still make you hold out your hand and hit it with a ruler?"

"Mama—" "Oh, hush child, we'll never get there if you keep asking questions."

Remember how awesome the teacher looked, and how, as she bent down to greet you, you could count the crinkly wrinkles around her warm kindly eyes? She seemed 1,000 years old, and she may have been all of 45.

Remember the blind panic you felt when your mother went out the door and left you standing there, silent amid the flock of other silent lonely children?

But soon the strangeness began to wear off as the teacher started a game. By the time your mother came to take you home, you had made your first flight from the nest. You had learned of another world outside the world of home, a world full of wonderful adventures and shining excitements.

So many things to do. Every day something new—drawing a white sheep on a green field, learning to gallop to music, discovering the magic realm of poetry by listening to the teacher read "Little Boy Blue," making your first lifelong friend, falling in love with your first red-haired girl.

What other year goes by so swiftly? In what other year does the mind leap so far as it does in kindergarten? None. If I had my way, good kindergarten teachers would get the same pay as top college professors. They are more important guides on the royal road to learning.

My wife, Frances, who gets a bit fed up with hearing me ramble on like this, sometimes says: "You know, Rover, I think you've been homesick all your life for kindergarten. Why don't you go back sometime and spend a post-graduate year in one."

Believe me, if I knew a kindergarten that'd take a pupil who shaves, I might be tempted.

Clay School Admits Two Negro Pupils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The teachers and two Negro students, whose status as pupils was described as "very definitely temporary," were the only occupants of the previously all-white Clay, Ky., school today.

The Negroes were escorted into the school as the doors opened by state Adj. Gen. J. B. Williams, commander of the Kentucky National Guard. He said the guard had "outfoxed" anti-integrationists by apparently entering the two Negro pupils in an all-Negro school at nearby Providence.

However, only about 50 of the Clay school's 390 students reported for classes today and all of them had left the building by 11:30 a.m.

As the racial tension in the western Kentucky mining community mounted, Mayor Herbert V. Clark described the two Negro children, James Gordon, 10, and Teresa Gordon, 8, as "temporary students," and said:

"We don't want the races mixed at all. They won't keep the soldiers here forever and we're going to try to keep the school white if we can."

At Clinton, Tenn., scene of the first outbreaks in the fight to maintain segregated schools, attendance continued to increase at the integrated Clinton High School.

All of the Tennessee National Guard has been withdrawn from Clinton and all was quiet in the strife-torn town.

In Washington, D. C., a congressional investigation of the district's recently integrated public schools has been tentatively set to begin next Monday.

About 500 persons, mostly teachers and school administrators, have been interviewed and the testimony is ready for presentation to the special House District of Columbia subcommittee.

Williams personally escorted Mrs. James Gordon and her two children into the Clay school. A crowd estimated at 250 at the peak gathered a short time later but dwindled to less than 100 in a couple of hours.

Electrical Union Endorses Democratic Adlai, Estes Ticket

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Democratic Stevenson-Kefauver ticket has been endorsed by the International Brotherhood of Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers which said that President Eisenhower has turned a deaf ear to labor in any question of business versus labor.

A resolution endorsing the Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates and charging the Eisenhower administration has "betrayed its campaign promises to labor" was adopted yesterday by a voice vote at the union convention here.

Union President James P. Carey said more than 700 convention delegates were on the floor at the time and only one delegate opposed the resolution. The union claims 410,000 members.

The resolution called on union members to support "liberal" candidates for Congress and other political offices.

Secretary-Treasurer Al Hartnett and Carey were renominated without opposition and thus assured of another term. Voting will be by mail.

Used for Gifts—

Hobby of Making Aprons Becomes Large Project

Hobbies always cost quite a lot of money and Mrs. A. B. Landers has found that hers runs into money, too. Her hobby is giving gifts, beautiful little aprons of bright-colored prints with trim of plain material of matching shade, and to date she had made 150 of those aprons, 130 of which she has given to her daughter, her relatives, her friends and women employees in stores or other places, she becomes acquainted with through just going in the stores or offices.

Mrs. Landers lives at Otterville. She has a kind, sweet face. Her gray eyes seem to express what is in her heart, love for everyone she meets wherever her way of life may take her. She was born in Woodlawn, Morgan County, Mo., and lived for seven years in Sedalia at 340 South Vermont, after which they moved to Otterville in 1946. On Dec. 28, 1953, she and Mr. Landers celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. "We were married in Paris," said Mrs. Landers, and then with a smile added, "Paris, Mo., that is." They have two children, Mary Louise, who is now Mrs. Chester Crain of St. Louis and one son, Cecil Landers of Detroit, Mich. There are four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, of which they proudly boast.

It was about eight years ago that a friend bought an apron at a bazaar somewhere and brought it over to Mrs. Landers to cut off a pattern. She also brought material enough for two aprons. Mrs. Landers cut the pattern off, but she wasn't satisfied. It wasn't exactly true, so she remedied it to suit herself. She made the scallops by using a pie plate and later she found that by making two aprons of the same material or at least the same colors she could use the same piece of trim material for both aprons, for the 12 inches of scallops for one apron would leave 12 inches of material with the scallops going the other way for another apron.

At first the aprons were used for Christmas gifts and birthday gifts, or a gift for some other occasion. They not only were given to friends and relatives in her own state but went far beyond, to Washington, Arizona, Iowa and Kansas. Everybody liked the lovely, useful gifts so much that Mrs. Landers found herself making more and more of them and giving them away, not just for some special occasion but to someone who had been nice to her. Women in stores where she traded and who always seemed so happy to wait on her were added to her list, and she does have a list of everybody she has given one of her aprons to.

Someone who has a hobby of collecting things said to her one day: "But I still have my hobby to show, but you have nothing left of yours."

"Yes, I do," replied Mrs. Landers. "I have my friends, and they all remember me through my gifts of aprons."

Mrs. Landers believes that thru her gifts she can in some measure repay the kindnesses and courtesies that have come to her, for the Holy Scriptures say: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Perhaps there is no better example of just that than the apron she gave recently to a woman in a Sedalia store. "I had been so low that morning," said the woman, "My husband was ill. Nothing seemed to be going right — and then in walked Mrs. Landers with an apron for me." The woman continued, "You'll never know what that did for me. My spirits soared and the world looked entirely different."

That one incident should repay Mrs. Landers for all of her aprons because it meant so much, but her aprons always mean a great deal to those who receive them. They are so beautifully made and of such carefully selected materials, they would delight any woman.

Mrs. Landers seems to choose those she wants to give her aprons to with as much care as she selects her material. She looks for those who seem to go out of their way to be nice to her. It is her own private courtesy award project and it doesn't make any difference whether it is in a social way or in a business way that she might come in contact with the persons she feels an urge to give an apron to. Nobody knows who is going to be next, either. She just walks in with an apron when they least expect it.

One of the first women she ever gave one of her aprons to, and they are all made by the same pattern, was a former neighbor of hers on Vermont. The woman was so thrilled with the apron and the idea that she started the same hobby. She started making aprons too, and giving them to people, which pleased Mrs. Landers no end.

Mrs. Landers not only makes aprons, but she makes other things too — and gives them away. She loves to crochet and this type of work she can do and watch the television at the same time. Many of her gifts are crocheted items.

The Landers home is not right in Otterville but on a farm just north and Mr. Landers is employed at the Missouri Pacific Shops in Sedalia.

"When I saw how much my hobby was costing me," said Mrs. Landers, "I thought maybe Mr. Landers would feel it was too much. But I think he has grown to have an interest in it, too. The other day when we started to the home of a friend, he asked: 'Haven't you got an apron you could take her?' Then I knew he must like my hobby of making aprons and giving them to people."

So Mrs. Landers' hobby goes on. The hobby she shares by spreading sunshine. And what about her collection? It is one of friendships and she keeps a list of them in her little book.

Guards Head Home; Feud Loses Steam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
National Guardsmen headed home today from Clinton, Tenn., and Sturgis, Ky., after weeklong demonstrations against school integration ran out of steam.

The last contingent of 50 Tennessee guardsmen slipped quietly out of Clinton last night after 500 white pupils and 11 Negroes attended classes together peacefully, but several hundred Kentucky troops remained at hand in the Sturgis area.

The only indication of further resistance at Clinton was a petition filed by the Tennessee Federation for Constitutional Government asking the State Supreme Court in Knoxville to rehear its request for an injunction halting integration at Clinton. The original request was turned down Sept. 3.

About 200 of the more than 600 guardsmen at Sturgis were ordered home by Maj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams, adjutant general of the Kentucky National Guard. There were only a handful of spectators and no demonstration as 250 of the 310 white students and seven Negroes attended the Sturgis High School yesterday.

The situation was also quiet at the small mining town of Clay, Ky., and at Texarkana, Tex., after Negroes apparently abandoned their attempts to enter white schools.

Mrs. James Gordon gave up her fight to enter her two children in the white elementary school at Clay and two Negro youths who were driven from the Texarkana Junior College Monday did not appear yesterday. A crowd of several hundred white persons guarded the college entrance for the second straight day.

In Washington, President Eisenhower warmly praised Dr. Omer Carmichael, superintendent of schools at Louisville, Ky., for putting classroom integration into effect without violence, the first large-scale school integration in the South affecting thousands of children. Commenting on racial outbreaks elsewhere, Eisenhower said youngsters taking part in violence in some parts of the South are not being properly counseled at home.

Elsewhere, there were indications of further resistance to integration. Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi said at Jackson that his state "has dozens and dozens of ways" to prevent desegregation and Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina, attending the Southern Governors Conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., said he would never use the National Guard to force integration in his state.

A boycott against integration at Easton, Md., caused rising absenteeism among white students, while the boycott in schools at Mercer County, W. Va., appeared to be breaking up. Nearly 100 of the 393 Easton pupils were absent yesterday. Mercer County school officials speculated attendance would be near normal at the end of the week.

Prisoners Tell Guard Before They Escape

DANBURY, N.C. (AP)—When prisoners escape, they usually do it quietly.

But not Romney Duncan and John Ireland, misdemeanor convicts at Stokes County Prison.

Both strolled away from a road gang after bidding farewell to the guard.

The guard, under state law, was powerless. Misdemeanor prisoners may not be fired upon.

Years of Planning Pay Off—

Louisville, Kentucky, Fully Integrated Without Incident

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Years of planning have paid off for Louisville. Its schools have been desegregated without incident.

President Eisenhower warmly praised Louisville's superintendent of schools, Dr. Omer Carmichael, and said he hoped to meet him and get some advice.

Dr. Carmichael said: "We anticipated the court's ruling and started making our plans."

An estimated 2,800 Negro students — approximately a fourth of the Negro pupils in this city of 400,000—enrolled in previously all-white schools yesterday.

Churches, the press, radio, television, fraternal groups and civic clubs supported Carmichael's program. Speakers fanned out from his office orienting the population for what was to come. The superintendent made 60 such talks.

On the opening day of school, white and Negro students repeated the pledge of allegiance in unison, walked the corridors together, sat side by side in class.

"A lot of credit must be given the teachers and principals," Carmichael said. "Without their interest for a good Louisville school program after the court's decision, it would not have been possible."

The task was "made easier," Carmichael said, by integration in other fields. The University of Kentucky began admitting Negro students at the graduate level in 1948. The University of Louisville has Negro students. The city's public parks, libraries and amphitheater are open to all. There is no segregation on the city's buses.

"People sitting and talking with them (Negroes) helped more than people realize and without that and the other factors, it would have taken a longer period of preparation," Carmichael said.

When Carmichael and the Louisville Board of Education decided that the city should be prepared for desegregation, they first went to the teachers. The teachers were asked to prepare questions in the various problems connected with integration. They were told not to concern themselves with the solutions.

These replies were evaluated. Armed with this information, speakers then began talking before groups throughout the city.

Man's Shirt Convicts Him on Theft Charge

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The shirt he was wearing in court proved to be a key piece of evidence in Samuel Mars' trial on a burglary charge.

He denied in Montgomery County Court that he was in the Collegeville vicinity the day on which $35 was stolen from a house there.

But Miss Edna DeAngelis said Mars had been to her home that day seeking work and she had given him a shirt. She was sure it was Mars, she testified, because he was wearing that same shirt in the courtroom.

A verdict of guilty was returned a few minutes later.

Painting Improves Temperaments

Painting in the home or the office is a mess while being done, but afterwards the rooms look so pretty and clean everyone, except the confirmed cynic, gets a mental uplift. Periodic change of wall colors does something to those who have to look at them day after day, year after year. Change has an effect on the reflexes similar to the housewife's shifting of furniture in the home.

We don't think life can be beautiful without periodic painting of a home or office. Therefore many others who feel the same way are not too thrilled by the announcement that eventually plastics will do away with the need for painting the old home place inside and out. Not unless there'll be some way to change the plastic colors from time to time.

One of the biggest revolutionary changes in color and lighting is in process now in the first floor lobby of the Pettis County Courthouse. New fluorescent lighting and redecorating is going to make this place attractive and inviting. The Pettis County Court is responsible for the change which should receive public approbation. Old timers say this is the first major repair job in the lobby since the courthouse was rebuilt after the original structure was gutted by fire June 16, 1920.

Some say such changes fall in the category of startling innovations. If so they should be encouraged.

Speaking of innovations, we heard that one is coming up in the tire industry. You may buy yourself a set of tires that will be good for 100,000 miles.

But whether its plastic for paint or longing for high mileage in tires, one thing is sure about all so-called economical innovations — the American public likes change. Even a tire that isn't worn out in 100,000 miles becomes an irritation.

There will have to be some adjustment of mental attitudes in the next couple of generations before living in a plastic decorated house for an entire lifetime without a change of color inside or out, becomes acceptable.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Ike Has Paid Receipts For His Freezers

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The press is barred from President Eisenhower's farm, but this column has uncovered some of its secrets. In his basement, for example, is a different kind of deep freeze story.

This is the famous appliance that caused the Truman Administration so much trouble. In 1949, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan accepted two deep freeze units as gifts for himself and the First Lady, Bess Truman. Never has such a cold machine generated so much heat. The free freezers became subject of angry editorials, political attacks and finally a congressional investigation.

This column can report that Ike's basement contains not one but three deep freeze units. These are flanked by two roomy refrigerators, not counting the standard model in the kitchen. The President also keeps a huge, walk-in cold storage unit in his barn.

Ike Keeps Receipts

How did Ike get these symbols of democratic "Corruption?" You can be sure he paid for them. He also carefully preserved the bills of sale to prove it. He needs extra freezing equipment to handle the meat that is butchered on his farm. However, Ike's Gettysburg farm is loaded with other items, less political but often more expensive, that he did not buy. He has been showered with more gifts than any President in history—valuable testimonials to his popularity.

This raises a question that has been discussed but never settled. How far should the President go in accepting gifts? George Washington, for example, refused gifts from foreign countries. Most Presidents have accepted whatever came in, dividing the surplus among charities. But no clear rule has been followed.

Attitude Toward Gifts

The keeps most gifts that he feels come from well-meaning people. He is wary of promoters who might try to give him commercial products for the free advertising. This has made him at- tect about mentioning brand names.

It would be ridiculous, of course, to suggest that Ike's policies could be influenced by a free tractor or an Angus heifer. He not only acknowledges but announces most gifts.

However, some unannounced gifts have also been delivered to the farm, which is out of bounds to the press and public. Press Secretary Jim Hagerty considers it the Eisenhower's private home.

Ike's Finances

The President has sunk over $267,500 of his own money in the farm. He paid $24,000 for the original 189 acres, another $16,000 for the stock and machinery. He has added parcels of land until he now owns about 469 acres, costing $142,518 total. He has spent about $100,000 expanding the original nine-room house into a rambling, spacious, 14-room structure, tailored to suit his own tastes rather than any Architectural style. Still more money has gone into new equipment.

To finance the farm, Ike dipped into the $476,250 profit he made on his book, "Crusade in Europe." His Presidential salary is $100,000, plus $90,000 travel and expense money. He takes in another $30,000 a year from outside investments, but gave up a $20,000 yearly salary when he resigned from the Army.

Free Follies

The farm is landscaped with donated trees and shrubbery. The half-mile driveway to the house

Guest Editorial—

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Banking For Pedestrians. Now you can be a frequent bank depositor and not necessarily belong to the "carriage trade." Of course this has been possible before but the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn is making it easier. The "Dime," as we presume it is known on Fulton Street, has opened a pair of teller's windows which open right onto the sidewalk.

Some other banks, especially commercial banks, within the last few years, have introduced "drive-in" windows at which tellers accept deposits or cash checks for customers who need not leave their cars. And there are others who possess keys to the "night depository" slots by which up-to-date banks receive funds of storekeepers and others after hours.

But now the everyday passer-by, if he has a few dollars to put away or the price of a service charge on a money order, can walk right up to the window and transact his business without going inside.

In view of the growth of consumer credit as a part of the banking business and of the new services being introduced in that department, will the next innovation be to place a vice-president where he can finance that new car for you before you've had time to draw up a check?

is lined with spruce and quince trees, the spruce presented by the 48 state GOP committees and the quince by his Cabinet.

The Washington Cherry festival sent Ike a dozen cherry trees, and an unidentified donor gave some apple trees. Another unidentified donor delivered 400 nut trees. Ike personally accepted these and chatted with the donor, according to a farmhand who was present.

The Gettysburg farm is equipped with a wood lot where Ike can go shooting, a pond stocked with bass and bluegill for fishing, and a putting green for him to practice golf. The contractor who installed the putting green (Gift of the Professional Golf Association) said it was worth $1,000 not counting a year's free maintenance. The President has plenty of free sporting equipment, too, including two fishing rods selected by baseball slugger Ted Williams.

Barnyard Gifts

Most of Ike's cattle including over 20 valuable black Angus, were donated. His Sorrel mare, Doole-Dee Dee, was presented by the American Quarter Horse Association, complete with hand-tooled saddle. The association also gave a light boy, named Sporty Miss, to Ike's grandchildren. The kids already had a black-and-white pony, however, given by J. R. Lackey of Asheville, N. C.

The President has received an assortment of hogs, hens and other barnyard varieties as gifts. Probably his favorite, however is a shiny, red-and-yellow tractor with a built-in radio, worth $4,000. This was presented by the Black Hawk-Cockshutt Farm Equipment Company through the Farm Bureau Associations of Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

GIs Work on Farm

The topsoil in the Eisenhower farm, worn out when they bought it, has been rehabilitated through the Soil Conservation Service. Ike also sold $1,000 worth of wheat to the government the year before he ran for President, but the Agriculture department now won't talk about the farm.

Enlisted men are called from Camp David when Ike needs extra help on the farm. Once a subcontractor was late digging a ditch three-quarters of the way around the farmhouse to install electronics equipment. On deadline day, it poured down rain. The subcontractor couldn't find civilian workmen who could finish the job. So a handful of disgruntled GIs were rounded up. They worked through the downpour to meet the deadline.

Two Filipino servants from the White House are sent to Gettysburg occasionally to clean up the house. Government trucks have also been used to do hauling.

Valuable Chinaware

Mamie also has received gifts for inside the house, including valuable chinaware. One set: 26 Royal Berlin porcelain plates heavily decorated in gold and centered with portraits of the nation's first ladies. Each plate took 15 months to decorate.

Valuable furniture and ceramics, once owned by the distinguished Washington dowager Mrs. Frederic Keep, were recently offered to the White House. Staff members picked out the best, not for the White House but for the Gettysburg home.

Most citizens don't begrudge the Eisenhower's these gifts in the first home they ever owned. But it has led to backstage discussion as to whether a President should limit the gifts he accepts.

Photographers who will cover the political campaigns rate presidential and vice-presidential candidates as picture subjects like this:

Eisenhower—Produces good expression. Is cooperative. But he tends to hurry photographers. Stevenson—Sometimes extremely cooperative. Sometimes a little impatient. Usually jokes them into hurrying. Generally a good subject for producing action.

Nixon—Used to be most cooperative photo subject of all public figures. But in the last few months he has become a little touchy on how his picture is taken.

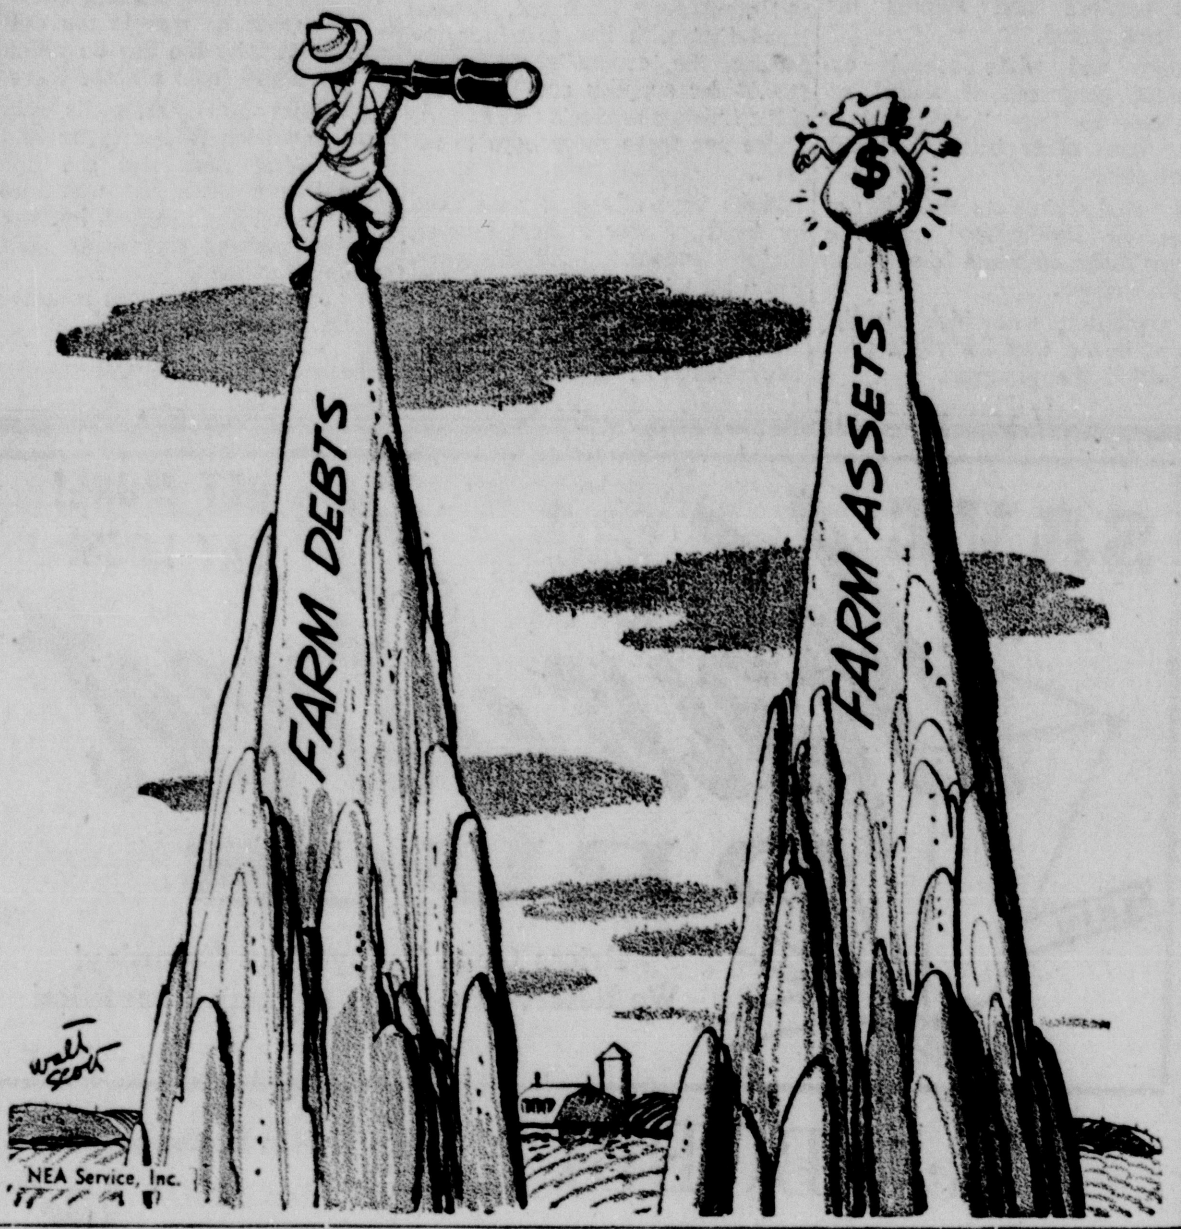

Kefauver—Will hold still for shots as long as photographers ask him to. But it's hard to get good expressions and animation from him. Piker-faced except for his big, toothy smile. Glasses also make him hard to photograph.

Thought for Today—

New Twin Peaks

But Eisenhower Discusses It—

Independence Is An Unpopular Subject

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said, "We must widen every possible chink in the Iron Curtain."

He added that whenever the love of freedom becomes "greater than the fear of guns at their back, then dictatorships fall."

Eisenhower was speaking informally yesterday to the leaders from about 40 fields of American endeavor. He was urging a program of people-to-people contacts around the globe, a sort of "every American an ambassador of good will" idea.

Of course Eisenhower was not proposing that all the world be recast in the image of the United States, but suppose, in such a people-to-people program, Americans went around the world preaching this doctrine:

"Governments are instituted among men, deriving their powers from the just consent of governed. . . . whenever any form of government becomes destructive of those ends, it is the right of the people to alter and abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundations on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

For suppressed peoples everywhere this would be a call to arms. Indeed, it once was. The words are from the Declaration of Independence.

Looking Backward . . .

TWENTYFIVE YEARS AGO

Peter T. O'Brien, Sedalia, was elected commander of the Missouri department, American Legion, at the state convention held at Joplin. He was nominated by Fred Wesner, a member of Pettis County Post 16, and defeated two opponents.

1931
The Rev. Walter G. Harter, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, was in Denver, Colo., for the general convention of the Episcopal Church.

1931
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Suits, 212 West Third, residents here several years, left for Brookfield, their former home, to reside there.

1931
Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Wilson, 1421 West Third, were at Excelsior Springs attending a meeting of insurance agents. While there Mr. Wilson was in charge of a golf tournament.

1931
FORTY YEARS AGO
Friday evening at Hotel Terry over fifty employees of the City Light and Traction Company gave a farewell banquet honoring Harry D. Frueauff, who had been manager here several years, and who was to leave for Montgomery, Ala., to be general manager of the Henry L. Doherty interests at that city.

1916
Arrangements were completed for feasts of vari-colored lights to be placed on streamers on Ohio Avenue from Main street to Sixth in illuminative decoration for the week of the Missouri State Fair.

1916
The County court made an order establishing two voting precincts in Flat Creek township instead of one, the division line being the half-section running east and west through center of the township.

1916
Wilson Hicks, engaged in newspaper work during his vacation, left for Columbia to resume his studies in the school of journalism at the University of Missouri.

It says: Throw off your yokes and work out your destinies; determine the type of government you feel will do the most for you as a free people.

But times change. If Americans went around so preaching would they, under the United Nations Charter, be interfering with the internal affairs of other nations?

Would Congress approve economic and military aid to a nation which decided upon a socialistic form of government?

Two of the staunchest U.S. allies are Great Britain and France. How would they view this preaching if carried to their colonial peoples in Kenya, Nigeria, Algeria?

Suppose the Voice of America, Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia began broadcasting this message, like a steady drumbeat, across the Iron and Bamboo curtains?

More than a third of the world's population lives under some form of dictatorship. This is the sort of message men who rule by force would consider subversive. Would they just sit still?

Ruth Millett Says—

Lack of Beauty Should Be Challenge, Not a Defeat

She isn't one bit pretty but that fact never has cramped her style. She walks tall and proud, with as much grace and poise as though she were a beautiful girl.

She has substituted shining cleanliness, good grooming, and a flair for clothes for prettiness. And the substitution has an appeal of its own.

She is a doer instead of a wisher. So she goes, after the things she wants.

She is friendly and gracious and quick to admire others, instead of picking flaws and finding fault.

She is dependable and reliable, qualities that will long outlast those that many prettier girls have already started to rely on.

There may have been a day when a girl born without beauty or even prettiness was doomed to take a back seat. If so, that day has passed.

Today any girl can overcome the handicap of having less than average good looks. The sooner she realizes that, the sooner she starts being the kind of person she thinks it would be easy to be if she were only pretty.

A girl doesn't need beauty to walk as proudly as a beauty. She doesn't need prettiness to glow with friendliness and warmth. She doesn't need looks to make the most of her brains.

She doesn't have to have even average good looks to make a pleasant impression on others.

Being less than pretty doesn't slow down any girl who accepts her lack of beauty as a challenge rather than as a liability she can't possibly overcome.

Election Judges Lock Tally Sheet in Church

DENVER — It will be some time later before Denver's final vote count from all 428 precincts becomes available.

The tally sheet reporting the vote in the lone precinct remaining out is tightly locked in the polling place—a church.

The four judges mistakenly placed the sheet behind the doors of the voting machine and locked it. The church doors locked automatically behind them as they left to turn in the poll book to the City Election Commission.

No one with a key could be located.

Gen. Claire Chennault Has Surgery on Lung

WASHINGTON — The Air Force said today that Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, retired, famous air commander in Southeast Asia during World War II, was operated on recently at the Walker Reed Medical Center here for removal of a lesion on his lung. He is expected to leave the hospital perhaps tomorrow or on Friday a spokesman said.

Misconceptions About Canada— Sometimes Both Sides Get a Trifle Rankled

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Our Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Some American misconceptions about Canada are serious, others just irritating or amusing.

That's what the tall amiable Canadian Ambassador to the United States, A. D. P. Heeneey, is discovering as he lives and works with those who live below those 4,500 miles of unguarded border separating two of the most friendly countries in the world.

On a late summer afternoon, the Ambassador told me some of these misconceptions with good humor and yet with a trace of, "I wish our good friends here would not do or say that."

The "that" basically, is not treating Canada as an equal. Officially and unofficially, there's too much of a big brother ("The USA knows best") attitude toward Canada.

Americans assume they know and understand what's going on up north, but they don't. For example, many Americans think:

1. Canada pays taxes to Great Britain. The Ambassador commented wryly, "We don't and economically are more independent of London than we are of Washington."

2. All Canadians speak English. Less than half are Anglo-Saxon, and a third of the 16 million population speaks French.

3. Canadian government is too British. It does follow the British parliamentary pattern and Canadians believe their "responsible government" is preferable to the American form but like the American form it's a federation of states (provinces).

4. Canadians are "subjects" of The Queen of Great Britain. Not true, altho the same person is recognized separately as the "Queen of Canada." To underscore this, Her Canadian Majesty's birthday is celebrated on a different day, fixed by the government. It was May 23rd this year altho May 31 was the British date.

5. American newspapers give all the news about Canada. Not so, and American's never buy Canadian newspapers or magazines. Canadians, however, provide a big market for American publications. Only two U.S. newspapers maintain staff correspondents in Canada and even the Associated Press has not a single resident staff correspondent north of the border.

6. Canada is still in its youth. Forgotten is the emergence of Canada as a world power. As the Ambassador puts it, "both countries have moved out into the world creating more occasions for differences." He sees danger in taking each other for granted. The St. Lawrence Seaway issue was cited as "an acid test and temperatures did rise but not dangerously above normal."

7. American tourists drop a lot of money into Canada. But Canadians spent $57 million more in the U.S.A. last year than Americans in Canada. Constantly overlooked is the fact that Canada is the largest customer of the United States, larger than all Europe put together.

8. Canada does not help Great Britain and other allies. This smarts as Canada's post war contributions on a comparable national income basis would exceed a United States contribution of $64 billion. Canada was the only U.S. ally that did not accept lend-lease help. In fact at the end of the war the U.S.A. owed Canada $3.6 million. And paid.

All these could be called big misconceptions but perhaps the one that rankled the most with the average Canadian who crosses the border is that his Canadian money isn't acceptable. A member of the embassy staff tells of hurrying back to Washington over a weekend when the banks were closed. His Canadian money would not buy tickets, food or his taxi fare. His money was thrown back at him as "no good." Yet the Canadian dollar is worth more, not less than the American dollar. That irks Americans.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

We do not like to be told that our aches and pains are only imagined. We rebel at the idea that most of our human ills are psychosomatic. We know that our ailments are real and that they should be treated with real medicines.

Of course, we are willing to admit that the sufferings of other people are probably due to emotional maladjustments. They "think themselves into their difficulties." We know that we are different.

It is true that we are different because no two people are alike. No two people suffer in the same manner. Regardless of the reality of our ailments, there is a healing power which comes from the nearness of God.

When we pray unselfishly and talk to the Creator He heals many of our imagined and real ills. He helps us make adjustments so that the body, mind and soul coordinate. When the human and spiritual functions are normal, there are less ills and less pain.

Even those ailments which are not cured are more easily taken when our spirits are at peace with God. The body, mind and soul do not ache as much when God is present with people. We must learn to pray more constantly—not merely on occasions.

Adlai Attacks 'New' Nixon In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's campaign fire was broadened today to include an attack on the "new" Vice President Nixon along with a blast at President Eisenhower's civil rights position.

The Democratic presidential nominee accused Eisenhower of failing to lend the prestige of his office to Southern governors and other officials upholding segregation laws "sometimes even against their own personal feelings, sometimes in the face of violence."

He said Nixon was presenting a "new face" and "you have to be awed by the lack of conviction which makes so swift a transformation possible."

Stevenson, meanwhile, plunged into a conference with party leaders from New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia and Washington, D.C.

This was the eighth and last of his eight regional "grass roots" meetings across the country as a preliminary to the formal opening of his campaign with a nationally televised speech tomorrow night in Harrisburg, Pa.

Stevenson was encouraged by an analysis by his staff of Maine's election figures.

James A. Finnegan, his campaign manager, said the Republicans never had won the White House unless they obtained 60 per cent of the Maine November vote — and that the GOP garnered but 51.4 per cent of the congressional vote there Monday.

Finnegan said the Democratic congressional vote in Maine jumped more than 50 per cent over that in 1952 and that this constituted "one of the greatest increases ever recorded in any state, let alone a normally Republican one like Maine."

He said the re-election of Democratic Gov. Edmund Muskie and the congressional election results reflected "dissatisfaction with the Republican record under President Eisenhower."

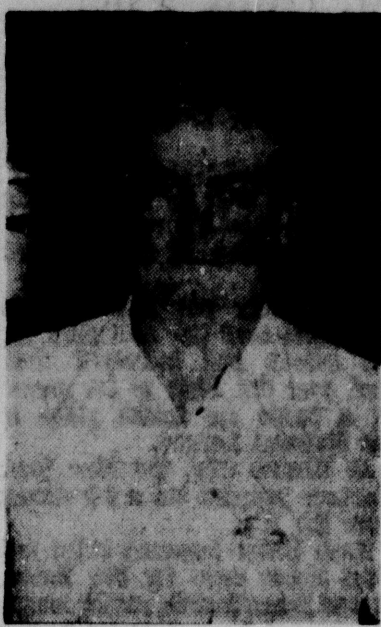

Stevenson's attacks on Eisenhower and Nixon were delivered amid frequent applause last night in a speech accepting a second presidential nomination — that of New York state's Liberal party, good for more than 400,000 votes in 1952.

Stevenson said, "I disagree with the position taken last week by the President when he said of the Supreme Court (desegregation) decision: 'I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it.'"

Claims Fish Scales Can Be Digested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fish scales are digestible, the Fish and Wildlife Service said today, contrary to general opinion.

Director John L. Farley said the service has two research studies under way seeking the best ways to make the high protein content of the waste scales available for animal food.

Three Boys Shoot Sleeping Father, Show No Remorse

NORWALK, Calif. (AP)—Three brothers — 10, 9 and 7 — showed no remorse today after admitting, police said, that they carried out a plot to kill their sleeping father.

Homicide Lt. Al Etzel said the boys told of planning to shoot their mother too "so they could run the house the way they wanted." But no attempt was made on her life.

Thomas William Parker, 31, a steelworker, died last night of a bullet wound in the head.

Etzel said he was told by Tommy, 10, Bobby, 9, and Richard, 7. The boys decided to shoot their father after he reprimanded them for breaking into a neighbor's garage and taking .22-caliber ammunition.

When they were sure he was asleep, Tommy handed a .22-caliber rifle to Richard and said: "Go on in and shoot Daddy."

Richard fired the shot. A fourth brother, Harry, 4, and a 2-year-old sister were not in on the plot.

Their mother, Mrs. Betty Parker, 28, who is expecting another child, discovered the shooting when she returned home.

Etzel said the boys had an unusual knowledge of guns, imparted by their father. They could take a gun apart and reassemble it like veterans, he said.

The boys were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Mitchell Says Adlai Uses 'Half-Truths'

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell accused Adlai E. Stevenson last night of "half-truths and false implications on matters dealing with economics and labor policy."

The Eisenhower Cabinet member criticized the Democratic presidential nominee in an address at the 50th anniversary dinner of the New York chapter of the National Industrial Advertisers Assn. Mitchell said Stevenson's statements on the administration's record on labor have been "motivated more by political ambition than a true desire to enlighten the American people."

Mitchell countered a Democratic charge that the $1-an-hour minimum wage law was passed by a Democratic Congress over the "strenuous" objection of the President and his administration.

"The truth is," Mitchell said, "President Eisenhower originally proposed that the minimum wage be raised from 75 cents to 90 cents and that its coverage be extended to millions of more workers who do not now receive the benefit of the law. Now, mind you, he originated this proposition."

"President Eisenhower had in mind the fact that in the past when the minimum wage was raised, the coverage was contracted."

"Ninety cents was an appropriate increase if we were to avoid unemployment and extend coverage at the same time."

"When an entirely new proposition was presented to the President, namely raising the wage to $1 without extending coverage, the President signed the bill making the $1 minimum wage law."

Mitchell also attacked Democratic campaign charges that the President has not kept a campaign pledge to amend the Taft-Hartley Act, that he has "stacked" the National Labor Relations Board with pro-management personnel and that he has failed to enforce labor standards laws properly.

The secretary said revisions of the Taft-Hartley Act proposed by Eisenhower were rejected by what Mitchell called "a fantastic alliance" of Southern and Northern Democrats. He said that such an alliance "shows to what lengths Democratic politicians will go."

Search for Weather Plans to Continue

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Air Force said today the search for a weather plane and its 16-man crew, believed down in the Sea of Japan, had produced "absolutely nothing."

A spokesman said the hunt, spread over more than 100,000 square miles of choppy waters between Japan and Siberia, would continue into the night.

The plane, an RB50 — reconnaissance version of the B50 bomber — was last heard from Monday 200 miles northwest of Niigata, Japan, while tracking Typhoon Emma.

City Golf In Third Round

Favorites Advance To Quarter-finals Of Sedalia Match Play Championship

Match play in Sedalia's City Golf Championship slipped back to normalcy over the weekend as most of the second round favorites won with ease to move into the quarter-finals.

Jackson Wilt catapulted himself into a lead role by delivering an 8-and-7 trouncing over Vernon Bingham. Wilt now faces Earl Hall, who won handily in eliminating Jerry Turner 5-and-4.

In similar style, Charles Patterson, former Country Club champion, cut down Howard Glavin in 14 holes, 6-and-4. Patterson, also, holds substantial stock in city championship possibilities.

Bernard Stanfield, who plays both the Country Club's grass greens and Countryview's sand greens with equal ability, dumped Bill Gully by a 3-and-2 margin.

Jack Herbst won a 3-and-1 decision over Sam Watson to remain a heavy favorite. Herbst will next meet John Hazel, who ousted Cecil Owen in the only extra-holes match of the day, 1-up in 19 holes.

Leo McShane, a dark-horse threat, closed out Dick Gorrell in 16 holes, 3-and-2, to gain the quarter-finals berth opposite Patterson.

Of five junior golfers originally entered, Gilbert Roberts was the only one to reach the third round when he dropped Leslie Griffin 3-and-2.

Sunday will conclude quarterfinal play which is expected to set the stage for a couple of thrilling semifinal duels between favored contenders the following weekend.

Six Still Seek Title—Consider Futility Rampant In Big Seven Conferece

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The football season always has its frustrations, but consider the futility rampant in the Big Seven Conference.

Six of the seven teams—Nebraska, Iowa State, Kansas, Colorado, Missouri and Kansas State—are still looking for their first Big Seven title.

The Big Seven came into being in 1948 with the addition of Colorado to the Big Six and only the Buffs have been able to slow down the eight-time champ, Oklahoma.

Colorado earned a tie with Oklahoma 21-21 in 1952 to put the only blot on the Sooners conference record since 1947, when Kansas also came off with a tie (13-13) to share the Big Six title.

Most of the "experts" say Oklahoma will win again this year.

Other "firsts" being sought by Big Seven members this season include the first winning year for Kansas Coach Chuck Mather since he joined the collegiate ranks in 1954.

Although Kansas State Coach Bus Mertes is not new in the collegiate field he is looking for his first winning season as head man of the Wildcats. Mertes took over in 1955 and posted a 4-6 record.

Vince Di Francesco, head man at Iowa State is another with hopes that his material will give him his first winning year with the Cyclones.

Pete Elliott joins the ranks. Elliott is in his first year at the helm of Nebraska's football team. He went to the Huskers from Oklahoma, where he was a member of Bud Wilkinson's staff.

Used to Give 'Bums' Fits—

'Old Man' Sal Maglie Puts Dodgers in Tie for NL Lead

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Sal Maglie, the old man with the beard who used to give Brooklyn fits, turns out to be the guy who pitched the Dodgers into a tie for the National League lead.

They called him "The Barber" around the league when Maglie worked for the New York Giants, partly because of the trade-mark stubble on his face and partly because his pitches close-shaved the batters.

In Brooklyn they called him something else. The 39-year-old righthander held a 23-11 lifetime hex on the Brooks and about the closest you can get in print to what the Dodgers called Sal is "that nasty old so-and-so."

In Brooklyn they called him something else. The 39-year-old righthander held a 23-11 lifetime hex on the Brooks and about the closest you can get in print to what the Dodgers called Sal is "that nasty old so-and-so."

But last night, Maglie was the old pro among Brooklyn's old pros, striking out six, walking none with what he thought was a "second-rate curve" and driving in two runs while beating Milwaukee 4-2. It was Sal's 10th victory since being picked up from Cleveland in May and it lifted the world champs into a share of first place for the first time since April 28, Brooklyn and Milwaukee have each won 83 and lost 57.

Third-place Cincinnati — with Frank Robinson tying the major league rookie record for home runs—whipped the Giants 11-5 and moved to within two games of the Braves.

St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 5-3 and Pittsburgh beat Chicago 4-3 in the other NL games.

In the American, Yogi Berra hit his 236th career home run, tying a major league record for catchers, as New York's pennant-bound Yankees defeated Kansas City 9-5. Cleveland, with Bob Lemon winning his 200th in the majors, trimmed Baltimore 3-1. Boston dropped Chicago out of a second place tie with the Indians, beating the White Sox 5-3. Detroit punted Washington 12-0 behind Frank Lary's two-hitter.

The Braves, who had the lead all to themselves since July 13, refuse to admit they're troubled by the pennant pressure. But it sure looks that way. While Brooklyn has won four of its last five, the Braves have won only two of five—and Bob Buhl, who had beaten the Dodgers seven times with out defeat, blew up to walk seven in his 3 2-3 innings last night.

Buhl left in the fourth when he twice walked the bases full and gave up Maglie's two-run single. The Brooks, with just five hits all night, got the clinching pair in the eighth off Ernie Johnson, fourth Milwaukee pitcher.

Jackie Robinson, another of the old pros, galloped home from second on Johnson's wild pickoff peg and Gil Hodges then slammed his 27th home run.

Milwaukee's runs came on Ed Mathews' 35th home run and Joe Adcock's 36th—his 12th off Brooklyn and one shy of the NL record against one club.

Cincinnati battered four Giant pitchers for 14 hits — including a grand-slam homer by Ed Bailey and Ted Kluszewski's 35th home run. Robinson's shot was his 38th — matching the record set by Wally Berger as a Boston Braves rookie in 1930 and tying Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the NL lead.

Art Fowler won his 11th in relief of Larry Jansen, who made his first appearance against his old mates.

Bobby Del Greco and Ken Boyer homered for the Cards, who now have won five in a row. Herm Wehmeier won it with relief.

Back-to-back homers by Dale Long and Frank Thomas gave Pittsburgh a 3-3 tie in the eighth. Then Roberto Clemente singled to drive in the run that beat the Cubs in the ninth.

Berra, needing one more to break Gabby Hartnett's home run record, smacked his 28th and Hank Bauer hit his 24th and 25th for the Yanks, who now need any combination of victories and Cleveland defeats totaling seven to clinch the flag. Hee Lopez, Harry Simpson and loser Art Dittmar homered for the A's.

Lemon, a 36-year-old right-hander who turned pitcher in 1946 after an infielder-outfielder start, gave six hits and hit a two-run homer in becoming the 36th pitcher to win 200 since 1900. It was his 19th victory of the season and put him with teammates Bobby Feller and Early Wynn as the only 200-game winners now active.

Ted Williams hit his 20th home run among 11 Boston hits as the Red Sox drew within a half game of the third-place Chicago. Willard Nixon and reliever Ike Delock checked the Chicks on five hits.

Lary, winning his 17th in a bid to become Detroit's first 20-game winner since Hal Newhouse in 1948, retired the last 15 men he faced. The Tigers scored nine runs on eight hits to nail it in the fourth.

Charlie Keller, former star outfielder for the New York Yankees, now is the owner of a breeding farm for horses in Maryland.

Kansas State ran through a minimum of full speed contact drills. Oklahoma returned to work on its defensive tactics for the second straight day.

Nebraska sought temporary replacements for three first string backfield veterans on the ailing list. The injured RE Don Erway, Bennid Dillard and Willie Greenlaw.

Missouri also has a veteran on the sidelines. Tackle Charles Mehner is expected to be lost for 10 days or longer with an ankle sprain.

'Old Man' Sal Maglie Puts Dodgers in Tie for NL Lead

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Sal Maglie, the old man with the beard who used to give Brooklyn fits, turns out to be the guy who pitched the Dodgers into a tie for the National League lead.

St. Louis Wins Fifth Game Over Phillies 5-3.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis won its fifth straight game last night 5-3 over the Philadelphia Phillies at Connie Mack Stadium.

The victory put the Redbirds one game over the .500 mark for the season and increased their lead over the Phils to 5 1/2 games in a battle for fourth place in the National League.

At Kansas City, the New York Yankees pounded out a 9-5 victory over the A's.

Hank Bauer homered twice and Yogi Berra once for the Yanks. It was Berra's 236th major league homer and gives him a tie with Gabby Hartnett, former Chicago Cub and New York Giant for the record among major league catchers.

Hee Lopez, Harry Simpson and Art Dittmar homered for the Athletics.

The victory gave New York a perfect 9-0 record at Kansas City this year.

Stan Musial drove in his 100th run of the year for the Cards. Musial has driven in 100 or more runs in 9 of the past 11 seasons.

Bobby del Greco and Ken Boyer got solo homers for the Cards.

Hawaii, Japan Game To Break 3-Way Tie

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hawaii and Japan compete again tonight in the Global World Series of non-pro baseball to break a three-way tie resulting from Hawaii's 2-0 victory over Japan last night.

The decision gave Japan its first loss in the double elimination tournament and left Japan, Hawaii and the United States with records of three victories and one loss apiece. The U. S. team remained in contention by eliminating Mexico, 13-1, in six innings last night.

Redlegs Are Near Major League Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati's robust Redlegs are the fourth major league team ever to hit 200 or more home runs in one season—and are just 21 shy of a major league record.

The Redlegs, who smacked three while defeating the New York Giants 11-5 yesterday, are one game ahead of the Giants' record pace of 1947, when they hit 221.

Brooklyn is the only other club to go over 200 in one season and the Dodgers have done it twice. The 1953 Brooks hit 208, the 1955 team hit 201.

Basketball Star Leads Field in Election

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Big George Mikan's first bid for votes instead of field goals appeared headed for success today.

The 6-foot-10 Minneapolis Laker center and general manager was running well ahead of a field of seven in his bid for the Republican nomination for a congressional seat from Minnesota's 3rd Dist.

Mikan would face the veteran Democratic congressman, Roy Wier, in the general election.

Film Makers Hope Success Will Repeat

By ROB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can lightning strike twice?
The makers of "The Bachelor Party" hope it can. They are producer Harold Hecht, director Delbert Mann and writer Paddy

Chayefsky. These fellows combined their talents last year on a quickie called "Marty" and each collected an Oscar for his trouble. Like their Oscar winner, "The Bachelor Party" is taken from one of Chayefsky's TV plays. And it is being played by a cast of lesser-knowns, though Don Murray is becoming noted as Marilyn Monroe's co-star in "Bus Stop."
The new film may cost twice as much as "Marty's" $400,000, but that will still be a small amount for a first-class Hollywood production.
Present on the set at all times is writer Chayefsky, the wonder boy of TV who also serves as associate producer on the film. He explained his reasons:
"If a line of dialogue or a piece of business needs to be changed on the set, I'm here to do it. On most pictures, this is done by the producer or the director and the result is something that is not the author's creation. That is how many pictures go bad."

These are the only conditions under which he will work in movies, he added.
"I had a bad experience out here once," he remarked. "Nine years ago, I worked on a picture at Universal called 'The Great American Diplomat.' It was supposed to be for William Powell, but it was never made."
"The producer told me to come in every morning with 19 ideas and he'd pick the one he liked. I told him this was nonsense. Why shouldn't he come in each morning with 19 ideas and let me pick out the one I liked. Needless to say, the job didn't work out."
You may get the impression from this that Chayefsky is a fairly independent fellow. You are right. He's a stubby, round character in his early 30s, with a glib tongue and an expressive face.
Chayefsky has no sympathy for writers who complain about what Hollywood does to their stories.
"I would never sell a story again unless I could be in on the production, as I am now," he said.

TV Official's Resignation Sign of Trend

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The departure of Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver as board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co. is significant of a trend in the television industry today.
Weaver, contemplating the past and the future in an interview, declined to spell out his reasons for resigning beyond his Friday statement: "My record couldn't be clearer. I leave it to the people in the industry to evaluate why I left."

They have. And this is what they see:
Weaver is the most creative intelligence yet to have wielded so much executive power in television. A man of bold imagination, he declined to confine his ideas to table talk. He committed millions of dollars to creative ideas and, more than any single individual, caused the infant industry to grow. Under his leadership NBC-TV programming increased in length of time and depth of content—and achieved its present prestige.
Then why, ask people in television, did he resign? Must it not be that he felt the network was unwilling to continue the expansion of his ideas? If that is true, and most people feel it is true, it means that NBC as well as CBS, the other largest network, is concerned by spiraling TV production costs.

It means that the biggest networks are minding their financial meat and potatoes for a time. And that, in turn, means that the viewing public's home screen will not be greatly widened in the next year or two. This season's programming plans tend to support that theory.
NBC has had many executive purges in recent years, but it's generally agreed in the industry that Weaver is too big a figure to be purged. He must have resigned voluntarily over a matter of policy.

Weaver is not through with television, however. Stretched out comfortably in his Sands Point, Long Island, home, he said, "I'm trying to take the time to dope out how the medium should develop the interests of the public."

His important role and vital personality always have attracted rumors as a mountain attracts clouds. Here are three rotating currently on the Madison Avenue-Rockefeller Plaza axis:

1. That Weaver will take a post with British commercial television.
"I have not been approached by the British," he said. "I can't say I wouldn't take it up. But I'm an American and I went through the entire early days of radio and television. And I have an understanding of the needs of the agency as well as the network. It's sometimes overlooked that

Denies Fourth Divorce

DENVER (AP)—Judge Joseph E. Cook yesterday denied the divorce petition of Mrs. Mina E. Romo, 24, seeking to shed her fourth mate.
He said he sent Mrs. Romo home "to think over the serious aspects of the marriage relationship."
The judge said he became particularly upset when he learned Mrs. Romo lived with her first husband a year, the second for two months, and the third for nine months.
Mrs. Romo married her fourth husband, Joseph B. G. Romo, Oct. 30, 1954, and sued him for divorce Nov. 1, 1955.

Test Run

OMAHA (AP)—The way things worked out, John Garfield, 67, got a quick trip to the hospital and the police got an honest-to-goodness patient for what had been planned as a test emergency run.
The empty ambulance was making a test run to see whether motorists were giving right of way to emergency vehicles when Garfield dropped over on the sidewalk across the street, a victim of the 102 degree heat.
Garfield was hustled into the ambulance and off it went with a swarm of motorcycle police to catch offending motorists—in pursuit.

He Shows Some Irritation-- President Tries to Reduce Stay-at-Home Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, showing some irritation at Democratic campaign attacks, is launching a new drive to cut down the number of stay-at-home Republicans in November. Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday he has read that polls indicate Republicans apparently are not registering as fast as Democrats and that "I deplored that situation."

He is expected to explore it further when he meets late today with an estimated 500 or more Republican leaders from all sections of the nation at a campaign rally on his farm near Gettysburg, Pa.

The Republican setback in the Maine general election Monday cast something of a shadow over the rally preparations, although Eisenhower ascribed the outcome there largely to the popularity of Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie, who was re-elected.

"Maine had a very popular governor," Eisenhower said, "and they decided they wanted him again, and his majority was such that he helped every other person on the ticket."

Asked whether he foresees the possibility of a close contest in November, he said, "I regard any contest as close until after it is won."

Eisenhower also made it clear he is following closely—and doesn't particularly relish—the campaign attacks leveled at him by Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic opponent, and Sen. Estes Kefauver, Stevenson's running mate.

Asked directly about the campaign they have been waging, Eisenhower paused and then replied: "I believe I would rather not comment on that."

At another point, a reporter asked whether he would identify some of the campaign "distortions" which Vice President Nixon has attributed to the Democrats. Eisenhower said he would leave

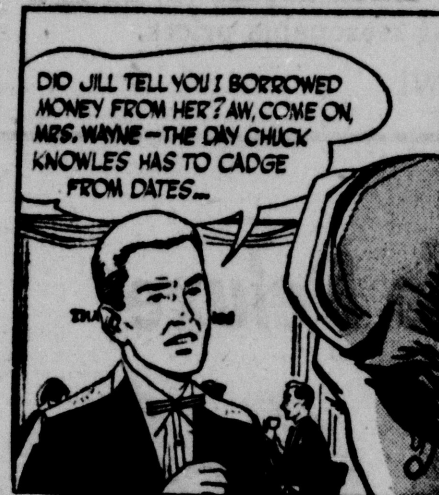

Dead Man Elected As Demo Candidate

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The late Kenneth Anderson was nominated as the Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives from the 7th Dist. in Wisconsin's primary yesterday.

Anderson's name went on the ballot despite the fact he died of a heart attack five days ago. The Democratic organization was advised that if his name polled 2,070 votes it could name a candidate to replace him in the November election.

The vote for Anderson was above that needed. Therefore a Democrat will be named to oppose Rep. Melvin Laird, the Republican incumbent who had no opposition in the GOP primary.

Crop Harvest Report Shows Volume Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eisenhower administration farm officials today hailed a reported boost in crop production prospects as promising to put more dollars into farmers' pockets this year than last.

In its September report on the crop outlook, issued yesterday, the Agriculture Department said over-all volume for 1956 was larger than had been indicated a month earlier.

In fact, the department said, this year's harvest now looks as if it will be only moderately below last year's near record output.

Some Return
CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—A hot check artist fleeced merchants here of around $900 in cash and merchandise in a little more than one day.

Camden got something out of the check-passer, though. Police said a 50-cent parking meter violation fine was collected on the automobile used by the check artist.

US Weather Picture Shows Little Change

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's weather showed little change today—fair and pleasant over most of the southern half of the country and a little wet and cool in northern areas.

Showers sprinkled most of the Northeast during the night, with falls in most places light. Showers and thunderstorms were reported from Idaho eastward into Montana and Wyoming.

A few locally heavy thunderstorms hit northern Minnesota in advance of a cold front moving southeastward from Canada. Ground fog extended over most of the Great Lakes region.

Two Men's Change of Heart Brought Peace to Morocco

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — (NEA) — A Frenchman who operates a farm and two brick factories in Morocco had a change of heart. So he sat down with a Moroccan nationalist leader, and got him to change his heart, too. Together they were able to achieve the return of the Sultan and a Moroccan settlement.

Then the Frenchman, Pierre Chavanne, and the Moroccan, Ahmed Guessous, came to Mackinac Island and tell their story to the World Assembly for Moral Re-Armament.

"In 1954 there was tension and violence between the Moroccan nationalists and the French who held a protectorate over the country, but I did not know how to be effective in bringing peace to the country in which I lived," said Chavanne.

"At the suggestion of the French statesman, Robert Schuman, Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman and a team of workers for Moral Re-Armament came to Morocco and to my city of Marrakech. I invited them into my home, and some other friends to hear them."

They urged Chavanne to go to Caux, the MRA center in Switzerland.

"Here I met men and women from all over the world who were accepting for their lives the four standards of absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness and absolute love," Chavanne recalled. "They were having a quiet time every morning in which they listened to God for his guidance. I did not believe in God, but I thought I would try this quiet time. It hurt my pride when I found no thoughts came to me."

"But I was challenged by the my reasons for being a liberal stories other men told how they had become honest with themselves, with their wives, and with others. I faced the fact that I was proud of being a liberal, and that Moroccan people. My motives were not pure. Also I recognized that I was not getting along with my Conservative French friends with whom I differed. If I can't get along with fellow Frenchmen, how can I bring peace to my country, I asked myself.

"I became honest with my wife. I saw that while I was a liberal in politics, I had mentally slapped my wife down when she tried to share her thoughts with me as an equal. My almost sadistic words made her feel small. I got on the right basis of true love for my wife."

"Now I was free in my mind and spirit to really act boldly for the peace of my country."

Chavanne then went to Guessous, the militant nationalist leader, and apologized "for the wrongs I and my countrymen had done to the Moroccans."

The nationalist was skeptical at first, but when he saw that Chavanne was living what he professed, he believed him, and accepted his invitation to go to Caux with him.

Guessous was indignant when he heard friendly references at Caux to El Glaoui, the Pasha of Marrakech, whom the nationalists hated because he was a collaborator with the French.

"I was told that I could be no nearer to God than I was distant from the man from whom I was most separated," says Guessous. "This awakened me."

"On my return to Morocco, I went to see El Glaoui and apologized to him, not for my convictions, but for hating him. This so moved him that he embraced me and the three nationalists I had brought with me. Three hours later he asked the French for the return of the rightful Sultan, Ben Youssef, from exile, and it was done."

In the meantime, other MRA teams had brought French and Moroccan negotiators to the point where they could agree on other terms of Moroccan independence.

Peace and freedom have come to Morocco. Guessous is Minister of Agriculture in the independent government and Chavanne is working with him for unity in the land.

Together Guessous and Chavanne will be among the hosts to a Moral Re-Armament Assembly for the whole Arab world which the Sultan has invited to Morocco.
